

A Comment on Comfort Nahum 1:7

A close-up photograph of a person's hand pointing to a page in an open Bible. The Bible is open to a page with dense, small text, likely a list of names or a genealogy. The hand is positioned on the right side of the frame, with the index finger pointing towards the text. The background is dark and out of focus, showing what appears to be a wooden surface. Overlaid on the top half of the image is white text in a serif font.

The Goodness of God – “the Lord is good”

The Protection of God — “a stronghold
in the day of trouble”

A close-up photograph of an open Bible with a black cover. A person's hand is visible on the right side, with the index finger pointing to a specific line of text on the right page. The text on the pages is small and dense, typical of a Bible. The background is dark and out of focus, showing what appears to be a wooden surface.

A close-up photograph of a person's hand pointing to a page in an open Bible. The Bible is open to a page with dense, small text, likely a list or index. The hand is positioned on the right side of the frame, with the index finger pointing towards the text. The background is dark and out of focus, showing the texture of the book's cover and the edges of other pages. Overlaid on the image is white text in a serif font, which reads: "The Knowledge of God — 'He knoweth them that trust in Him'".

The Knowledge of God — “He knoweth them that trust in Him”